

The New York Times

February 6, 2009

Preliminary Results in Iraq's Provincial Elections

Iraq's electoral commission announced early results, which account for about 90 percent of the votes. In the maps below, each province is scaled according to the number of seats in its council.

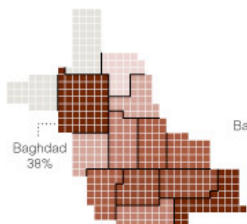

Percentage of votes won in each province

Dawa Party slate

Shiite Islamist party of Prime Minister Nuri Kamal al-Maliki

Islamic Supreme Council of Iraq

Shiite Islamist party ally of Mr. Maliki, which lost ground.

Sadrists

Shiite Islamist lists backed by the cleric Moktada al-Sadr

Iraqiya

Mixed moderate party of the secular leader Ayad Allawi

Tawafiq and Iraqi Islamic Party

Sunni Islamist coalition of Vice President Tariq al-Hashimi

Change in turnout from 2005

points

Sources: Iraq's Independent High Electoral Commission

THE NEW YORK TIMES
RECOMMEND

Close Window

Copyright 2009 The New York Times Company